Derbyshire's Cycle Network

Cycling is a great way to explore the countryside, take up exercise and to get around. Derbyshire is the perfect place to pedal for pleasure or on your daily business - everyone can have a go.

Derbyshire County Council is developing a network of traffic-free routes, or Greenways, around the county linking communities and countryside.

Greenways enable people to...

- * Visit family and friends
- * Cycle or walk to work or to school
- * Access shops and facilities
- * Live more healthily and have fun
- * Reduce traffic congestion and car generated pollution
- * Experience countryside on the doorstep and beyond

Derbyshire's cycle routes and traffic-free Greenways travel through some of the county's most beautiful landscapes. Many of the routes follow old railway lines and provide a safe traffic-free environment for all the family. And they provide the perfect training ground for new cyclists of any age.

This network is expanding as new routes are developed. To report any problems encountered on any of these routes or to comment on the network, contact us at 'Call Derbyshire' on 08 456 058 058.

In addition to the routes shown, there are local cycle routes around towns. There are also many mountain bike routes around both the White Peak and the Dark Peak of Derbyshire that can be found illustrated in books and publications.
