

M - WW2 Air Raid Decoy

While walking through Cadman Wood you will pass a brick structure on your left. This is thought to be part of an air raid decoy system from World War 2. It would have housed lights, which were used to divert German bombers away from Sheffield.

P - Dry Stone Walls

Dry stone walls were traditionally built for stock keeping and to mark land boundaries. These walls provide vital habitats for a variety of wildlife including plants, insects, reptiles and small mammals.

Easy to Follow Circular Routes

See the map inside and follow these waymarkers. Full walk distance is 7.8 miles (12.6km). Allow 3 to 4 hours. The west loop is 3.4 miles (5.4km). Allow 1.5 to 2 hours. The east loop is 4.4 miles (7.2km). Allow 2 hours.

Waymarkers are fixed at changes of direction. Make sure you use good footwear. Mud, stiles and steep slopes can make this walk difficult for some people.
