CONSTRAINTS
Policy constraints: None known
Physical constraints (i.e. topography): The building fronts the road and has limited scope for parking/open space although a public park is adjacent.
Environmental constraints including flood risk: Possible contamination
Access constraints: Access would be from Parcel Terrace. It is noted that Coke Street is a narrow road and a dead end so parking may be an issue.

Ownership constraints:

No known ownership constraints. Site has been promoted for residential development.

Other:

Surrounding industrial uses on the Parcel Terrace

SITE VIABILITY

Are the constraints able to be overcome?

Suitable residential uses may need to be car free or a solution to parking would be required

Economic viability issues:

Viability for conversion to apartments is currently questionable in terms of market viability but should become viable when the housing market improves.

Summary

This site is a vacant former mill building. It is a three storey brick buildings in the St Lukes area of the City.

The site is within close walking distance to the neighbourhood centre at Rowditch and to public transport at Uttoxeter New Road which has frequent buses into the City Centre, a five minute ride.

The building is situated between a local park at Rowditch and employment industrial uses at the Parcel terrace Industrial Park.

The site is considered to be a suitable location for residential development as it relates to a residential neighbourhood and has access to facilities. Care will be needed in considering traffic movements and parking associated with development but in this location a car free development could potentially be created.

It is believed that the building has not been developed for reasons of viability but there is still interest in it as a residential conversion. It is not considered to be viable at the moment but when market conditions improve it could deliver a residential apartment conversion in a sustainable brownfield location which would see a reuse of the building. It is there considered to be developable in the medium term for around 22 dwellings.
