We give clients the choice of what services they want, and help them to make decisions and live life as independently as they can.

Services include:

- 20 places offering day services five days a week
- Intermediate care provided by a team of Occupational Therapists and Physiotherapists, supporting clients with reablement needs
- Person centred services for long term residents
- Short term person centred services for people returning to live within their communities
- Advice, information and support for carers.

Residential Services

The centre has a total of 32 residential places with en-suite facilities to support the care of older people who have high levels of need, such as those with advanced dementia. These consist of 16 long term residential and 16 short stay and intermediate care.

Long term residential care

There are 16 places (in units of up to 8 people) available for people with dementia and higher levels of need providing specialist long term care in a secure and attractive environment. All the accommodation is homely, high quality and well designed to create environments where residents can feel comfortable and supported.

Short stay and intermediate care

The short stay accommodation has 16 attractive en-suite bedrooms and facilities, purpose built for short breaks and intermediate care. The accommodation is designed and equipped to support recovery and maintain and promote independence. People staying here will be able to enjoy the full range of resources available within the centre.

There are eight places available to provide planned and emergency short breaks. The places will allow people the opportunity for some intensive support when it's needed, so their carers can enjoy a much needed break, or to help people recover their independence.

There are also eight short stay places providing a mixture of social care support and rehabilitation for a short period (up to 6 weeks) intended to increase an individual's physical, emotional and mental well-being. This is known as intermediate care. Intermediate care places provide a homely setting to support people who need some time to recuperate following a discharge from hospital or to prevent unnecessary admission to hospital or long term care.
