

Business and Public Services Family

A job family is a method of defining jobs. The emphasis is on focusing on a group of similar roles rather than individual jobs. A job family considers how many levels of that type of work there are and describes the key factors that differentiate one level from the next. It can be used to provide a clear structure for defining how individuals may progress and develop, as well as providing a tool to allow managers to put the right people in the right job.

This document describes the Business and Public Services Job Family within Derbyshire County Council. Each level in this job family is differentiated by changes in accountabilities, technical knowledge and skills expected at each level. It can be used to identify and understand the work expected at each level and where individual roles fit against each level.

Each level describes expectations, if required, relating to: people management, equality and diversity, health and safety and risk management.

The family's key characteristics are:

- Delivering administration, support, business and public services to support the Council.
- Processing regular transactions via established procedures.
- Undertaking regularly occurring event-based duties.
- Ongoing processes and procedures.
- Understanding and responding to real time queries from colleagues or the public.
- Deploying specialist knowledge of administrative or other support services.

The scale, breadth and complexity of the area or function being led or managed determine the level of work. Senior roles in this family lead the delivery of business support to a department or service area. Mid-rank roles provide expert administrative services or populate customer facing roles. Lower level roles may also make equipment or facilities available for public use.

Business and Public Services Family

Members of the family include:

- Managers of a business or public service area
- Experts in specialist business or public service areas
- Administrators and Secretaries
- Administrators involved in managing specialist transactions
